

I believe that I will make a great Welfare Officer, because I am very organised and like to make sure that everyone feels included. Having been Head Boy in 6th Form, I am familiar with the processes of a committee and work well within a team. This role on LUSUMA has been performed admirably by Tim Ricketts this year, and I believe that I can continue this high standard.

As welfare officer, I would be the first point of call for students seeking help. I am friendly, and approachable, which are crucial characteristics for someone in this role. I would like to try to get the Grub Crawl of Introweek to overlap with the main PJPC, so that we cross paths a few times, hopefully removing the idea that they have been isolated from the main cohort.

For International Welcome Week, I plan to help integrate the new students from abroad by running the usual dessert social, along with the aim to create an additional event involving a tour of the campus and city.

I would love to have a role on the LUSUMA committee. Having been a member for 19 months; I appreciate all the work that they do and wish to be a member of the team.
